BADLY MANAGED.

This first general primary in the State in which the people will be permitted to vote for their representatives in the Senate just as they have been accustomed to vote for members of the lower house of Congress, has been badly managed in many particulars, especially in this true as to its financial features. If when the committee last met in Richmond, Chairman Elyson had said to its members, we will rely upon the Democratic voters of Virginia to pay the expenses of this election, assessment of candidates would not have been thought of, and the members present would have returned to their respective homes calling upon their fellow Democrats to meet the demands of the occasion and they would have responded as one man. Mr. Elyson is now making that appeal direct to the voters of the State and our hope is that it is not too late to be effective, but it would have been so much better to have done all this in advance.

It was simply astonishing that the committee should for a moment have entertained favorably the suggestion that the great body of Virginia Democrats would tolerate the imposition of a crushing burden on any one of their brother Democrats who had been guilty of no other wrong than of aspiring to represent them in high and honorable position.

Let Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet be composed altogether of self-sacrificing millionaires and the United States Senate be made the dumping ground of the very rich, no matter how those riches were attained, but in Virginia let the door of hope open to rich and poor alike just as long as it may be said of the rich and the poor alike, "honest and capable." That has the Jeffersonian ring about it and the world hasn't as yet inspired on it nor will it in the years to come.

COOKING SCHOOLS.

When men study medicine they expect to be doctors, and so when others learn the carpenter's trade they expect to be carpenters, but who goes to a cooking school with even the remotest idea of being a cook?

We learn from the Richmond Evening Journal that a lady of that city, rich in this world's goods, was innocent enough to go to the Hampton School in search of an accomplished kitchen artist, but instead of rushing for what she imagined to be a coveted prize, this was her experience:

"On the contrary, they quite resented such a suggestion. They were destined as missionaries, teachers to their own race, and evidently thought the white man's kitchen quite beneath them. The visitor had a forlorn hope that she might be able to obtain a trained and skilled servant at Hampton, and was perfectly willing to pay well for a little missionary work in her own kitchen. But her hopes proved forlorn indeed. To the repeated question: 'Can you furnish me a servant?' the reply was invariably: 'We turn out teachers only.' Naturally the query arises: 'Will not the pupils of these missionaries from Hampton Institute imbibe the same notions and want to be teachers instead of servants, and so on through an indefinite period?'

"It is needless, therefore, to look to an institution like Hampton for a solution of the domestic service problem, which becomes more and more complex every day. At the same time it would be interesting to get some statistics on the subject and find out whether any of the Hampton students become servants, and whether or not a large proportion do not consider domestic service beneath them. There are schools of domestic science in Northern and Western cities notably in Boston, which turned out real cooks and laundresses who do go into service and make high wages, wherein they differ from Hampton."

JUDGE MANN'S REPLY.

We recently published a News-Leader editorial entitled "Judge Mann's Turn," containing charges preferred originally by the Emporia Messenger. Judge Mann answered these charges to the satisfaction of the News-Leader, and that paper published the following editorial, which we insert, inasmuch as we printed the News-Leader's charges.

This newspaper most earnestly opposes the nomination of Judge Mann because we believe it would expose the Democratic party of the State to serious danger of defeat and further because we think his opinions on the liquor question to be essentially wrong in principle and impossible in practice. Nevertheless, we like the prompt, strong, frank way in which he answers charges against his integrity and sincerity printed in the News-Leader the other day, taken from the Emporia Messenger. His answer seems to us to be complete and to relieve him from the charge of hypocrisy. As we pointed out in editorial comment on the Emporia Messenger's article, all of us a few years ago did or connived at the doing of things in elections which sometimes were justified as emergency measures but which left a bad taste in the mouth and an uncomfortable feeling of being dirty on the hands. Very few of us could stand unblemished politically if old records and recollections were looked up. The serious charge against Judge Mann was not that he accepted office as the result of fraud, but that he accepted it after having taken an attitude of special sanctity and pledging himself conscientiously and especially not to take it in such circumstances. His answer is manly and straightforward. A man may be wrong and, to our way of thinking, so long as he is a real man, honest and fearless and looking the world in the face, we can honor and respect him. Judge Mann's promptness and frankness in meeting his accusers impresses us most favorably.

Mr. Eggleston at Staunton.

(Staunton Leader, July 27.)

In his speech in this city a few days ago, Mr. J. D. Eggleston, Jr., candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, stated to the old soldiers present that it was his misfortune, not his fault, that he could not claim to be a Confederate soldier. He stated that he had tried to be a dutiful soldier, however, in a battle against ignorance and in behalf of this boys and girls of the South.

Mr. Eggleston springs from soldier stock. His ancestors were participants in every war in this country, from the colonial days to the war between the States. In the Confederate army his father and four of his uncles volunteered for service. It is known to only a few that at his own expense Mr. Eggleston has at various times sent to college and university libraries throughout the United States hundreds of the reports written by Dr. Hunter McGuire and Judge George L. Christian, of Richmond, to vindicate the Lost Cause and give the true history of that contest.

He has time and again urged Judge Christian to complete these reports and put them in book form, promising him to take upon himself all the detailed labor of proof-reading and preparation of the work for the press. A few years ago, after the History Committee of the United Confederate Veterans had passed favorably upon a Southern history for schools, Mr. Eggleston detected in the book a favorable recommendation of a work reflecting upon the South and its principles. He at once prepared a review of the history, showing its unfitness to be in the hands of Southern children, and submitted his criticism to several of the leading men of one of the Southern States. As a result, the school history was rejected in that State and a new edition of the book was prepared, with the objectionable features removed.

Dr. George W. Finley, of Augusta, and Rev. J. E. Booker, once a resident of Staunton, are uncles of Mr. Eggleston, and Captain T. C. Morton, of this city, is a near kinsman, as is also Mrs. M. B. Quarles, of Basic City.

If "Leakage" was confined to "Watered Stock" it wouldn't be so bad.

HERE AT HOME.

Farmville Citizens Gladly Testify.

It is testimony like the following that has placed "the old Quaker Remedy" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Farmville citizen:

A. D. Jenkins, who has resided in Farmville for 25 years, and is a blacksmith by occupation, place of address, Main St., says: "When I could across anything which is good I like to let others know about it. I suffered for some time with a dull, aching pain in the small of my back and was suffering at the time I went to H. C. Crute & Co.'s drug store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. They went right to the spot and it was only a short time before my backache was a thing of the past. I recommend all backache sufferers to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and they will never regret it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Doctor Brigham Says

MANY PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE

Lydia E. Pinkham's

Vegetable Compound

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womanhood is not because it is a stimulant, but because it is a purifier, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the generative organs, positively curing disease and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures and physicians who have recognized the virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience it can be relied upon to effect a cure. The following letter proves it.

Dr. S. C. Brigham, of 4 Brigham

Park, Fitchburg, Mass., writes:

"It gives me great pleasure to say that I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very efficacious, and often prescribe it in my practice for female difficulties."

"My oldest daughter found it very beneficial for uterine trouble some time ago, and my youngest daughter is now taking it for female weakness, and is surely gaining in health and strength."

"I freely advocate it as a most reliable specific in all diseases to which women are subject, and give it honest endorsement."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, bloating (or flatulency), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had the benefit of a wife or a mother-in-law treating female ills. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice if she wants to be strong and well.
